Average American Is Wise, Able Credit Manager

CHICAGO — Consumer installment debt today is not excessive nor out of proportion to income, declares Dr. Thomas W. Rogers, executive vice president of the American Finance Conference, national association of independent sales finance companies. "In fact, consumer credit is down compared with disposable income today."

In 1955, he pointed out, when disposable income was $270.6 billion, consumer credit was $38.6 billion. But in 1956 when disposable income increased to $288.3 billion, consumer credit went up only $1.2 billion—13 per cent of disposable income as compared to 14 per cent the year before.

"To properly judge the credit position of the American family," Dr. Rogers declares, "it is essential to consider consumer credit obligations in their true perspective. For example, in addition to these obligations, Americans have millions in cash assets as well as savings represented in life insurance policies, pension and retirement programs. In 1956, nearly three out of four American families had liquid assets other than cash."

The average American consumer is a wise and able credit manager. He handles his money intelligently. He contracts for major purchases on time payment only when he knows he is able to take care of his obligations promptly. In emphasizing this, Dr. Rogers pointed out that a recent nation-wide survey made by the Wall Street Journal disclosed that at the end of 1956, credit buying slackened while payments on consumer debt showed a decided increase.

Lip Reading Is Practiced by Many

LOS ANGELES—That waitress who serves your coffee every morning may be reading your lips but not out if you want one or two lumps of sugar.

Professor Alfred Larr of the University of California, said that people who work in noisy environments but whose efficiency of work depends on their accuracy of hearing, unconsciously learn to watch not only the lips of the speaker—but the facial expressions and gestures.

Dr. Larr, who teaches hearing therapy, is working on a project to determine the effectiveness of lip reading training under soundproof conditions.

During the course of his research he has observed that "nearly everyone reads lips at one time or another without realizing it." Even in a relatively quiet room, he said, such sounds as "f," "th," and "t," may not carry far enough for a listener to hear them.

The listener, however, watches the lips of the speaker and "fills in," Dr. Larr said.

Italians, Too, Have Troubles With Latin

WASHINGTON—In Rome today it's no easier to do as the Romans did than it is in the United States. Not, at any rate, when it comes to conquering the Latin language.

The wail heard through the halls of American high schools—"Latin is a language as dead as dead can be—First it killed the Romans, and now it's killing me"—echoes across Italy. There, says the National Geographic Society, any youth who enters the equivalent of the American high school must first translate 300 verses of Virgil and 30 sections of Caesar's Commentaries.

Although the Italian language derives from Latin, the ancient tongue is so different that few graduates, after eight years of required study, can sight-read Latin. Educators, as a result, are considering a proposal to make the subject optional for students in technical fields.

People, Places Gave Name to Clothing

WASHINGTON — What's in a name? In the case of clothes, many fabrics and styles owe their identity to famous folk or faraway places.

The word "blue jeans" can be attributed to the fact that many centuries ago Genoa, Italy, specialized in weaving a heavy twilled cotton cloth called jene or jean. The word Levis honors Levi Strauss, a San Franciscan who pioneered in overall-making in the mid-19th century.

Comparisons

NEW YORK—Each year Americans spend $10 billion for alcoholic beverages, $5 billion for cigarettes, and $264 million for chewing gum. Funds available for heart research, from all sources, including the Heart Fund, are less than 1 per cent of the $3.7 billion being expended yearly by American industry for product research

Mr. and Mrs. Hanenkrat Re... Honor on 64th Anniversary

At 7:30 P. M., Saturday, Sept. 21 a surprise party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hanenkrat, Sr.'s sixty-fourth wedding anniversary, at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Randolph Hite, by some of their friends. A short skit was given reminiscent of the clothing styles of the "gay nineties," as well as some points of interest in their lives, such as the engagement, the wedding, and the first "arrival."

Special music was rendered their son, Mr. Frank Hanenkrat.

Mr. F. W. Hanenenkrat, 85, and Mrs. Lena Rider Hanenkrat, 82, were married on Sept. 20, 1893, in Farmstown, Ohio.

Those present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Ashworth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanenkrat, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Cyrus and Dale, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Grishaw and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. Bolden McCormick and Maurine, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Johnson and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Arrington, Mrs. Bernice Johnson, Mrs. Jimmie Pierce and two children, Deborah and Timothy.

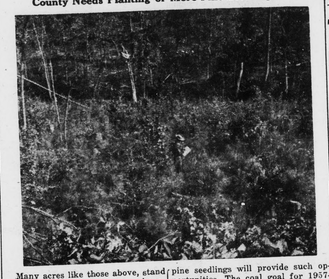
30,000 Cords Of Pulpwood Cut Last Year

County Needs Planting of More Pine Seedlings



Many acres like those above, stand in need of reforestation in Appomattox County. The picture demonstrates how cut over timberland can be developed into a profitable crop. Profitable farm management utilizes farm labor in off peak months. Cut over acres planted to pine seedlings will provide such opportunities. The coal goal for 1957-58 is 1,800,000 seedlings. Place your order early if you plan to plant this year. Each year many are disappointed because the seedling supply is exhausted before orders are placed.

It is estimated that Appomattox County produced 30,444 cords of pulpwood last year.

During 1956 the ten county area composing District IV of the Virginia Division of Forestry produced 388,080 cords of pulpwood. Hardwood pulpwood composed 63,557 cords of the total; over half of this came from one county—Buckingham, producing 31,031 cords.

The breakdown of the total pulpwood produced by the different counties in District IV is as follows: Amelia, 30,531; Appomattox, 30,444; Buckingham, 81,767; Charlotte, 38,224; Cumberland, 40,868; Halifax, 42,741; Lunenburg, 17,840; Mecklenburg, 33,966; Nottoway, 25,140 and Prince Edvard, 45,549.

Timberland owners in the area are urged to contact the Virginia Division of Forestry, Box 386, Farmville, Va., before making a timber sale so that a plan may be worked out to manage and harvest a renewable natural resource. The Division of Forestry offers this service free of charge to interested timberland owners. A small fee is charged for marking any timber.

Typing Course Is Offered

A Typing Course for Adults is being offered at the Appomattox High School, it was announced yesterday. It will be held each Tuesday and Thursday nights for sixteen weeks. The fee for the course is $20, and it will begin on Tuesday, October 8.

Those desiring to take this course may register at the school anytime between today and Tuesday night.

BOY SCOUT DRIVE

Boy Scout executives, Scouters, and volunteer workers throughout Virginia will launch a dawn-to-dusk coordinated fund campaign Tuesday, October 8, in cities and communities outside of the community chest and allied fund areas to provide the necessary financing in the Boy Scout movement in Virginia and counties adjoining Virginia in portions of West Virginia, Maryland, Columbia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

N. W. Kelly, Roanoke industrial executive for the Southern Service Area, Boy Scouts of America, will spearhead the campaign.

The financing campaign will have as its goal a quota of more than $140,000 to supplement funds received in the community chest and allied fund campaigns to maintain the Boy Scouts for the 60,000 teen-age boys now engaged in Scouting and to bring an estimated 10,000 additional boys into the program during 1958.

Calling the Boy Scout movement our best weapon against juvenile delinquency, former Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond, Jr. recently said, ". . . the survival of our country, of our character, of our personalities, of our unselfish usefulness to humanity will depend upon how and what we transmit to those, who in the very scheme of things, must be our successors."

Demonstration Club Schedule

Schedule of home demonstration club meetings next week:

Monday, Oct. 7.- Country Lane Club will meet at 7:30 P. M. with Mrs. Fred Smith. Mrs. J. C. Cole and Mrs. David Reid will give the demonstration.

Tuesday, Oct.8 .- The Clover Hill Club will meet at 7:30 P. M. with Mrs. Rebecca Shanks. Demonstration will be given by Mrs. B. G. Anderson.

NEW BOOK IN THE COUNTY LIBRARY

By Love Possessed

By James Gould Cozzens.

James Gould Cozzens' reputation as one of the truly great writers of our time is unquestioned. His new novel, the first since the Pulitzer prize-winning Guard of Honor in 1948, is his most profound and moving. Its theme is love, love viewed in its myriad aspects, in its vast reach and scope; love that provides the most penetrating insight into the qualities of men and women and the very nature or human life. The story is Arthur Winner's. It covers two days and one hour of his life; during these forty-nine hours the reader finds himself inside the mind and skin of a remarkable man, a man of many interests, friendships and affections, as he passes through a series of critical tests that probe the heart of his private and professional existence. By Love Possessed is one of the finest novels of this century.

A. H. S. Wins Third Straight Football Game

Nelson H. S. Band To Play

The Nelson County High School Band will be present for the Nelson H. S. and Appomattox H. S. football game here Friday night. The visiting band will perform during the halftime ceremonies. Game time at 8:00 P. M., at the Town Park.

The Appomattox High School football team won its third straight game here Friday night, defeating Virginia Episcopal School, 21 to 18. The game was a wide-open affair, with both teams moving the ball well. It was the A. H. S. homecoming game.

The Blue Hornets showed a very good passing attack, scoring all three of its touchdowns on passes. Appomattox players scoring were: Toots Carter on a pass from Freddie Mitchell; Toots Carter on a pass from Raymond Ferguson; Raymond Massie on a pass from Freddie Mitchell. The Blue Hornets also scored a safety when Dan Coleman and Toots Carter tackled the V. E. S. quarterback in the end zone for 2 points. The only extra point made was on a pass from Leon Edmunds to Raymond Ferguson.

On defense for the Blue Hornets the following players were outstanding: Raymond Massie, Dan Coleman, Palmer Moore, James Doss, Dennis Drinkard, Richard Robinson, Terrell Martin and Charles Crawley. On offense, Freddie Mitchell's passing and Richard Robinson's kicking kept the Hornets in the game. Robinson had one kick of 60 yards, going out on the one yard line.

The Blue Hornets will meet Nelson County "Governors" here at the Town Park Friday at 8:00 P. M. This will be the first league game for A. H. S. Nelson County H. S. has won two games in the district, and now leads the league. This should be another fine game, with perhaps the district title at stake.

WHITE SCHOOLS CLOSED FRIDAY FOR TEACHERS MEETING

Schools will be closed this Friday, as teachers will be attending a District F Teachers Meeting held in Amherst.

COUNTY FFA MEMBER NAMED HUB OFFICER

Jack Tibbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tibbs, of Pamplin, has been elected Reporter of the Hub F. F. A. Federation. Jack is a junior at Appomattox High School this year, and is also Reporter of the local Future Farmer Chapter. The Hub Future Farmer Federation is made up of nine F. F. A. chapters in the counties of Appomattox, Amherst, Bedford and Campbell.

Other officers elected for the current school year were: H. L. Morris, of New London Academy for President; Samuel Winston, of William Campbell, for Vice-President; Phillip Davis, of Amherst, for Secretary; Ned Roberts, of Concord for Treasurer, and William Nance, of Moneta for Sentinel.

The Hub Federation sponsors many F. F. A. activities during the year which help to train the vocational agriculture boys for better farming, better citizenship, and for participation in State F. F. A. activities. Among these are: a tractor driving contest, a forestry judging contest, a farm shop contest, crops judging contest, a degree team contest, a public speaking contest, and a spring outing which features sports, recreation and good eating.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL ENROLLMENT IS 497

Appomattox Elementary School has an enrollment now of 497, according to announcement today by Miss Flora Belle Williams, principal. One new teacher has been added at the school, the Rev. William Chappel, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Pamplin.

Play safe — drive carefully.

In his weekly news report to the citizens of the Town of Appomattox, Mayor C. T. Moses, Jr. today said that the town is asking the Traffic Divisjon of the State Highway Department for three blinking caution traffic lights on Route 460 through the town.

His statement follows:

"To the Citizens of the Town of Appomattox:

"I want to take this opportunity to again thank all of you good people for your fine cooperation in our Clean-Up Campaign.

"Due to some of the rainy weather, which has hindered our progress I think it will be best if we continue our efforts for another week on Highland Ave., and the section of Court Stree from the intersection of Court Street and Route 460. I feel sure that with some clear weather we will be able to complete these two streets within the coming week.

"The Town Council has passed a resolution requesting the Traffic Section of the State Highway Department to help us in the installation of three blinking caution lights on Route 460: one at the intersection of Court Street with 460, one at Church Street and 460, and the third at the intersection of 460 and 131 in front of the C. W. Smith residence. I just hope that we will be successful in our efforts to have these three lights installed, for I feel that they it would be a great safety factor concerning traffic on Route 460.

"The Council is very interested, and is making an effort, with the help of the State Highway Department, to improve Sunnydale Ave., which is the new street that is being developed that runs back of the residence of Mrs. Don Moses. I feel sure that if the citizens living in this ... development will be patient with us, that we will have them out of the mud and mire soon.

"Again I would like to solicit the continued assistance of everyone in order to make our Fall Clean-Up campaign a success."

Trinity Church Starts Drive For New Building

The congregation of the Trinity Methodist Church, near Stonewall, has set up a building program, with the object of erecting a new church sanctuary. The new building, complete with Sunday School plant and furnishings, would cost an estimated $35,000. It would be erected on the present church property. The Rev. Aaron D. Smith, pastor of the Trinity Church and eight churches composing the Appomattox Methodist Circuit, announces that a drive will begin this Sunday to seek funds for this project. On Sunday morning, Dr. Ralph L. Hagg, of Richmond, will be the guest minister at Trinity, and he will remain over for the week to direct the drive. Some funds are already on hand for the building program. A goal of $20,000 has been set for the drive next week. Canvassing committees have been organized. The church has a membership of approximately 200.

Womans Club Meets Monday

The American Home Department will present the program at the meeting of the Womans Club of Appomattox on Monday, October 7. The Rev. Charles Addington, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church will be the speaker.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. L. L. Stanley, chairman; Mrs. Herman Schweizer, Mrs. Martin L. Webb and Mrs. Joe Terry.

Registration Deadline

This Saturday, October 5, is the deadline for voters to register or make precinct transfers in anticipation of the important Nov. 5 General Election in Virginia. Registrar books are closed for the last 30 days prior to election, so those who have become 21 years of age since January 1, 1957, or have paid capitation taxes but neglected to register, or desire to transfer to vote in another precinct, must attend to this not later than Saturday, Oct. 5.
